WANTS A NEW NAME.

Mr. T. C. Richmond who had been chairman of the state prohibition committee for some time has resigned his office. It was rumored that he became disgusted with his party for accepting the woman suffrage plank, and wouldn't stay on the committee any longer; but Mr. Richmond denies this statement, and avers that the only reason he abandoned the chairmanship was that he desired to give his whole attention to the law.

Mr. Richmond has been interviewed by a State Journal representative on the question of changing the name of the prohibition party, and on that point he said:

"That is a matter which is still under consideration. I think the name will be changed without doubt, but to what I do not know. Several names have been suggested, among them the national party, national reform party and union party. The reason for the change is that we recognize the fact that prejudice exists against the name 'prohibition party,' a prejudice which we do not, perhaps, incur in any other name. We hope to show people that it is the principle for which we are fighting and for one, and willing to make concessions which shall secure temperance people, whether republicans, democrats or prohibitionists, in one solid body against the traffic. I believe under the platform which we hope to adopt the constitutional question will be treated more thoroughly than ever before, since the organization of the union, and the attempt will be made to eliminate or modify certain radical portions of the party code which arouse opposition in the hearts of men who are friendly to the fundamental principles of the party. For instance, one man thinks the party mass meetings parate too much of a religious revival flavor, another does not like the name, a third believes in voting upon the question outside of political parties. These objections represent millions of voters, and for the good of the principle changes ought to be made and doubtless will be made."

It would be a good thing for the prohibition party if it would change its name and at the same time change its principles. As it stands now it is simply the tail end of the democratic party, and with strong sympathies for that party, and with little anxious thought about temperance. The prohibition party been spending all its energies in slandering the republican party very much to the detriment of the temperance cause. If the party will follow the suggestion of Richmond, change the name and make its platform broad enough so that republicans and democrats and prohibitionists who believe in aggressive temperance work can stand thereon, the party will be able to accomplish much good."

PRESIDENTIAL PERPLEXITIES.

Unhappy lies the head that's got to bother with the presidency. General Harrison is striking many snags, and is already having a brush with the senate. The nomination of Evance Schuyler to be assistant secretary of state has struck a snag. Mr. Schuyler is now in Italy, and some of the members of the foreign relations committee but that he need be in no hurry to return, as it may take some time to determine whether he shall be confirmed or not. One of the objections to Mr. Schuyler is that he wrote a book on "American Diplomacy" in which he made some statements unjustly criticizing the late E. B. Washburne. This was true and the author owned up to that he had made his statements without sufficient warrant. In his book he also says something about the senate which are not looked upon as complimentary to that body, and it seems to be more of a grievance than the portions which relate to Mr. Washburne. Some objections to Mr. Schuyler's record at St. Petersburg, it is alleged, having also been found.

But there are troubles that come nearer home to the president. There is an army office-seekers. It is difficult to make all appointments satisfactory. A little ill-feeling has broken out between John C. New, the president's right-hand man in Indiana, and ex-Governor Porter, who has been nominated for the Rome mission. New has been one of Harrison's best friends, and in the Chicago convention pressed his nomination with all the vigor he could command. In the appointments to good positions, New gets nothing. Porter used to be in partnership with Harrison, but they became enemies, and for several years they were not on speaking terms, political rivalry being the cause of the rupture. Porter was in the Chicago convention, but was not a friend of Harrison. But nevertheless, when Harrison was inaugurated he names his old enemy for the Rome mission, and leaves Mr. New out in the cold.

Then there is a little hitch in regard to the Whitelaw Reid and the English mission. Blaine wants Reid for that mission, and the letter will take no other. Harrison wants the St. James court for some one else, and wants Reid to accept some other place. But Reid is proud and independent, and Harrison is firm and is president, and so thus the matter stands. Just how the matter will be settled cannot be told with definiteness, but it is conjectured that Harrison will be president as touching the English mission or any other mission.

Mr. Clarkson, the first assistant postmaster general, has taken charge of his

Down east they are circulating this story about Jerry Rusk: Some years ago Secretary Rusk bought a choice hog of an eloquent divine of Madison. But as the animal proved to be unsound, he made the clergyman take it back. Some time afterward the clergyman was preaching a sermon on the prophet Jeremiah; during the delivery of which he asked in solemn tones: "Now, then, my hearers, what did Jeremiah do?" In the congregation was an old fellow somewhat the worse for liquor, who knew of the incident related, and when the clergyman paused, apparently for a reply, he shouted: "He made ye take back the hog, con-sarn ye."

department. It may seem to some democrats that he will be remorseless in turning out democrats, but that will be of interest to reform. Mr. Clarkson is a stalwart in republican politics; there is nothing that smacks of half-ordeism in him. He will make a popular first assistant postmaster general, because he will put some 55,000 postoffices in good hands. If he shall follow the example of General Stevenson, whom he succeeds, the democrats can certainly find no fault. The most popular democrat in Washington was Stevenson. He acted squarely when he turned out a republican, and never once took a course that reflected on the character of the outgoing officer. He simply told them in plain English what was the truth, that their places were wanted for democrats. No republican could object to such reasons, and General Stevenson stood out of office enjoying the reputation of being the best democrat connected with the late administration. In all his busy hours he never forgot the stalwart sentiment of Flanagan, of Texas.

Major S. S. Rockwood, of Portage, formerly of the Recorder of this city, has been appointed chief clerk of the agricultural department, the position being tendered him by Secretary Rusk. This is a promotion which the major richly deserves. He has been connected with the land office at Madison for the past three years at a salary of $1,700. The position in the agricultural department will pay him $2,500, and it is supposed the salary will be increased when the department is properly organized. Major Rockwood is not only thoroughly loyal to Governor Rusk, but he is one of the most competent men that could be found for the position to which he has been appointed. He will render the governor splendid service in the capacity of chief clerk of the agricultural department.

It is hoped that the bill introduced by Mr. Miner giving the municipal judge sole power to issue liquor licenses will become a law. The whole business of granting licenses should be taken from the common council, and placed in the hands of judiciary in which the people have the fullest confidence. The question of license would then be lifted out of politics, and more care would be taken in the distribution of licenses. Philadelphia has just such a law and it works well.

New Hampshire makes the sixth state that has refused during the last few years to adopt a prohibition amendment. Michigan gave a majority of 6,645 against such an amendment, Texas one of 92,661, Tennessee 27,683, Oregon 7,985, and West Virginia 35,574. The reason prohibition is losing ground is because the people will not see that the law is enforced.

The Blaine boys seem to get along well. They are chips of the old block. Walker will be examiner of claims in the department of state; and Emmons, for two years general freight and passenger agent of the Chicago, Santa Fe and California railroad, has resigned his position, to take effect April 1st, and will accept a position in the management of the West Virginia Central railway.

One unconverted newspaper wants to know what Harrison has done thus far. Well, in looking over the record we find he has done very well. He has begun the work of reforming the civil service by appointing some 249 competent republicans to office.

If the legislature is wise it will adjourn on Saturday, the 30th of March. A good many bills can be killed in two weeks.

PERSONAL MENTION.

President Harrison said, just before he went to Washington: "It is a lonesome thing to be president." He is not lonesome now.

Sam Jones says: "When God's given man a wife with six or eight children the Lord's done a big thing for him, but when He gives a man a wife and a canary bird—well, He just throws off on him that's all."

James G. Blaine will erect a fine residence in Washington. He has purchased four lots on Meridian hill, at the head of Sixteenth street, near the residence of John B. Henderson, of Missouri. The price paid was $17,000.

Mr. Roswell Bardsley of North Lansing, New York, claims to be the oldest postmaster in the service. He has held the office for sixty three years, and is nearly as fresh and vigorous at the age of 90 as he was when appointed by John Quincy Adams.

Harper's Weekly, inauguration number, has an excellent picture of E. W. Halford, the president's private secretary, with many other pictures of notable men, and of the scenes of the memorable inauguration ceremonies.

Gen. Sherman recently said, in discussing the subject of death with his friend Gen. Slocum: "I am a coward in the face of pain, and I cannot bear to think of the physical sensations that may attend my death—the choking in my throat, the paralysis here, the torture there; but, that aside, I think of death as though it were sleep and rest, and I have no feeling whatever of dread of the hereafter."

AN ADMINISTRATION ORGAN.

Prominent Officials Said to Be Taking Stock in "Leslie's Weekly."
NEW YORK, March 16.—Russell Harrison came to town from Washington unexpectedly this morning and took the midnight train back to the capital. He passed several hours with Publisher W. J. Arkell. The presence of the young man revived the story started in Washington during inauguration week that Russell Harrison was not the only one of the family who is, or is about to be, interested in the newspaper business. It is said that the recent transfer of one of Mrs. Leslie's publications to Mr. Arkell, which takes effect May 1, is really a move to make the paper a semi-official organ of the administration, and that on the assurance of that purpose a large amount of stock in the company that will run the new concern has been taken by President Harrison, James G. Blaine, Stephen B. Elkins, and other men of like political affiliations.

Closed an Unsafe Mine.

DANVILLE, Ill., March 16.—James Freer, State inspector of mines for the Third district of Illinois, has filed an information in the Circuit court asking that Robinson & Co., which has been operating his coal mines at Fairmount on account of there being no exit from the mine other than the hoisting shaft.

Will Open Oklahoma Lands.

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The cabinet has discussed the Oklahoma question, and the opinion prevails that the President will shortly issue a proclamation throwing open to settlement the 8,000,000 acres authorized by the recent legislation.

"BAD BOY" THROU' STON KEM.

SAM KEE PHILIPPINES ON LIFE AMONG THE BARBAROUS MELICANS.

Sam Bing Kee, the recognized head of the Wisconsin Chinamen was questioned by a Milwaukee reporter last evening as to whether the reports of his countrymen leaving for Janesville and other inland towns were true. He insisted that all who intended to go had started already.

"Flaps one, flaps two, the more go, but guess not," remarked the tailor made chief of the celestials as he buttoned his Prince Albert coat and settled his fur cap over his nose. "Guess alee stay here and go back, and plitty soon," he continued. "People flude Chinaman alee some Melican, some good, some bad. Bad Melican buy thloves stones. Good Melican buy no thloves stones. Alee some Chinaman," said Sam smiling in a self satisfied manner as if that settled the case for good and all.

When questioned about his suit against the city of Milwaukee he declared his intention to obtain redress for the damage to his property and business and explained that the removal of the lander was not in his various branch establishments previous to his anti-Chinese demonstration, to his second street headquarters had caused both him and his patrons a great deal of delay and annoyance.

The Chinese ambassador to the United States, Chung Fung, has been notified of the disturbance, and has sent word through Chow Tai, the representative of the Six Companies, that the Chinese government will insist upon full indemnification for any damage that may have been done to the property of the Chinese men during the disturbance. Chung Fung says that when in certain Chinese cities the American residents were attacked and their buildings burned, the Chinese government erected new buildings and made complete restitution.

FIGHTING FOR FISH FISH.

HOW THEY SETTLE THE FISHWAY MATTER FURTHER DOWN THE STREAM.

Rockford and other Illinois mill owners and fish men have agreed upon an amendment to the fish-way bill now before the state legislature. The bill will be read with much interest by those concerned in the discussion in this city.

The present law demands that all water power owners shall construct fishways. The pending bill makes it obligatory not only that this shall be done, but that the ways constructed shall be satisfactory to the fish commissioners. The principal amendment suggested at the meeting, is that the test whether or not the law has been complied with shall rest with the courts, and not with the commissioners. Other amendments are that fish warden may be removed at any time by the governor; that Illinois fishermen shall be allowed to use the seine, and that at least one of the three fish commissioners shall be a water-power owner.

CLAIM TO HAVE TASCOTT.

THE CHICAGO MURDERER SAID TO BE IN CUSTODY.

Triple Hanging in Arkansas—Terrible Death in Nevada—A Day's Criminal Record.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 16.—A man supposed to answer the description of W. R. Tascott, the murderer of Millionaire Snell of Chicago, has been arrested at Nanaimo.
He gave his name as Charles Palmer. He arrived on the noon train yesterday, and his suspicious actions at once drew the attention of the officers. Palmer is said to have boarded the train at Cold Stream, three miles from here, and jumped off the train before it reached Nanaimo.
He immediately engaged a boatman to row him to Gabriola island, telling the latter he was hunted and wanted to escape from his pursuers. A storm coming up, the voyage was not made, and Palmer then offered a lively man $20 to drive him out of town as far as possible. While preparing to leave Palmer was arrested. He shows indications of insanity.

Reported Captured Elsewhere.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, March 16.—Recently five detectives arrived here from Chicago, having a clew to the whereabouts of Tascott, the Chicago murderer. Tascott was supposed to be working in some of the neighboring lumber camps. The detectives left here suddenly, supposedly for British Columbia. A dispatch from West Selkirk says that Tascott has been captured on Lake Winnipeg and is now on the way here in charge of the detectives. Tascott was certainly here recently, and there is a probability that the right man has been found.

St. Paul, Minn., March 16.—A Winnipeg special gives the following more definite statement of the capture of Tascott:

"Some Indians arrived by train at 3 o'clock Friday at West Selkirk, a place twenty miles from this city, conveying the news that Tascott, the murderer of Snell, the Chicago millionaire, had been captured on Lake Winnipeg by the Chicago detectives, who, accompanied by relatives of the murdered man, have been following a strong clew, with the result stated. They arrived at the city just after Tascott left his work to go, he said, to Dakota. However, they are now reported on their way to this city with the captured murderer."

TRIPLE HANGING.

Three Murderers Swing from the Same Gallows.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 16.—Willis Green, Anderson Mitchell and Dan Jones (colored) were hanged at Arkadelphia, Ark., today for the murder of a negro preacher, named Arthur Horton, May 21, 1888. The execution was private.

The crime for which they were convicted was most brutal in its manner. The murdered man, Horton, was a white colored man, respected by the white citizens of the county for his industry and honesty. About a year ago Washington Walker, desiring to homestead a tract of land, and not having the necessary funds to pay the fees, applied to Horton to assist him and promised him a home as long as he wanted one. Horton advanced the money for him and moved to Walker's live. After time Walker finding he could not pay Horton the money, which was only $3, concluded that three named defendants to his assistance, they met and considered a plan for murdering Horton. As Walker was 55 years old it was decided he should take no part in it.

On the night agreed upon, which was the 21st of last May, they went to Walker's house, and, going into Horton's room, picked him up and carried him into a thicket about 200 yards from the house. They took out a pocket knife and cut an inch in diameter and gave him seventy-six lashes, after which they took clubs and beat him to death, mangled and breaking his bones in a horrible manner. They hid the body in the thicket, and it doubtless would not have been discovered had they not mentioned in the presence of a grandson of Walker, who was about 15 years of age, that they had whipped Horton. He reported the same to a white man living near by, in company with others, instituted a search for the murdered man's body, which was found the next evening. The bodies of the community were greatly incensed against the defendants, and only by promptness by the sheriff when they were arrested was a lynching prevented.

INDICTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

Treasurer Gapon of the Indiana Insane Asylum.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 16.—Philip Gapon, treasurer of the insane hospital board, has been arrested on a grand jury capias charging him with embezzlement. The amount involved is $3,000. Gapon loaned John E. Sullivan, the defendant county clerk, $4,700 of the hospital funds, $1,700 of which was paid, but a check for the remainder, signed by Sullivan, came back protested. Gapon brought suit against the Meridian national bank to recover the $3,000, claiming that the bank had converted the money to its own use. Gapon was released on $5,000 bond. It is reported that the treasurer of State Treasurer Leneke's manner of loaning funds to John E. Sullivan was also made by the grand jury and that it will further go to the matter at its next sitting. Leneke loaned Sullivan money and received it all back. The question in the State treasurer's case is whether the funds loaned by Leneke to Sullivan were State funds or not.

A 6-Year-Old Murderer.

NORFOLK, Va., March 16.—William Buffalo, colored, but 6 years of age, has been arrested charged with the murder of Richard Harrison, 10 years ago, also colored. While the two boys were playing together on Feb. 28 a dispute took place between them, when Buffalo pulled a paler from a fence near by and struck Richard with it. A nail in the end entered his skull. Nothing serious was thought of it until Friday, when Harrison died.

Opened Fire on a Train.

HAMMOND, Ind., March 16.—As a freight train on the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago road was passing Cedar Lake this afternoon, a man named George White had a few yardsride on the Blanton plantation, near Gretnville, Miss., with Isaac Woods and two women, all colored. The latter were armed with razors and knives and Scott had a shotgun, with which he shot Woods in the leg. The latter, however, seized him and cut his throat from ear to ear, Scott dying in a few moments. George was also terribly, but not fatally cut. Woods and the women were arrested.

To Be Extradited.

OTTAWA, Ontario, March 16.—The Department of Justice has issued a warrant for the extradition of Albridge, who is wanted by the Ohio authorities, and who is now in custody at Windsor.

A Fatal Tennessee General.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 16.—Will Scott and a boy named George White had a few yardsride on the Blanton plantation, near Gretnville, Miss., with Isaac Woods and two women, all colored. The latter were armed with razors and knives and Scott had a shotgun, with which he shot Woods in the leg. The latter, however, seized him and cut his throat from ear to ear, Scott dying in a few moments. George was also terribly, but not fatally cut. Woods and the women were arrested.

TRIPLE MURDER AND SUICIDE.

A Nevada Ranchman Makes Way With His Wife's Family and Kills Himself.

tragedy occurred at Italian canyon, twelve miles from here, yesterday, between 2 and 3 o'clock p. m. Samuel Rundle killed his father-in-law, George Hosking, and his brother-in-law, aged 15, by shooting them with a shotgun, a charge entering at the left side of the jugular vein of the former and tearing away the face of the latter. A boy named John King, hearing the shot, came toward the house and was met by Rundle. Holding out the gun, the latter asked the boy to shoot him. The boy refused, telling him to come to the house and get dinner. Rundle then took the boy's horse and rode three miles to a lower ranch, entered the kitchen of the house, and with a pistol shot Mrs. Hosking in the left temple and then shot himself in about the same spot. Mrs. Hosking was ironing clothes at the time. The four bodies were found at the two ranches, lying at right angles, forming a cross. The shooting resulted from a division of property and family troubles. Mrs. Rundle was here in town at the time, and is almost distracted at the news, having two children, the elder 18 months.

John King followed Rundle on the other horse to the lower ranch, and upon his arrival found the bodies in the kitchen, and immediately rode to town to tell of the tragedy. The coroner, sheriff, district attorney and others quickly drove to the ranches. The bodies were brought in last evening at 11 o'clock.

Fought a Duel With Knives.

WHEELING, W. Va., March 16.—Near Industry, Jefferson county, Ohio, about thirty miles north of this city, Samuel Gordon and John Kelly, who have been paying attention to Miss Ella Duck, happened to meet at her house Tuesday night. The two engaged in a quarrel over the girl and Gordon proposed to settle the matter with knives and they repaired to the back yard of the Duck residence. Each provided himself with a knife and they made a rush at each other, Kelly stabbing Gordon in the side. Kelly is in jail.

Suspected of Poisoning Their Children.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash. T., March 16.—Last January John McEhron, wife and six children arrived here, and shortly afterward two of the children died of diphtheria very suddenly. The father was arrested for drunkenness the day of the funeral, and the mother was likewise intoxicated. Today two more of the children died very mysteriously, and it is alleged that the children were poisoned.

Punished His Unfaithful Wife.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 16.—C. E. Hamilton, a railroad man, cut the throat of his wife, in the Kimball house, this morning. He has proof of his wife's infidelity and followed her to get her child. She refused to give up the child and he cut her throat with a razor. There is a bare possibility that she may recover, but it is not likely.

Murdered by a Gang of Hoodlums.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 16.—Mrs. Henry Glade, who was shot through the breast by Robert Odol, one of a party of hoodlums who were raising a general disturbance in the neighborhood of her residence, died last evening at the hospital. She leaves a husband and two small children. The murderer and his companions are in the parish prison.

Asylum Prisoners Retaken.

ASHLAND, Wis., March 16.—Williams, McDonald, Martin and Graham, four of the prisoners who escaped from the county jail, were captured by ex-Chief of Police Schwartz and ex-Deputy Sheriff Coffey the only man at large. A reward of $500 is offered for him.

Kerr Goes Free.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Late Friday afternoon the jury in the trial of Thomas B. Kerr for bribery, returned a verdict of not guilty after being out three hours. Kerr was charged with accepting a bribe as agent of the Broadway Railway company in their hostile transactions with the board of aldermen.

"Hoodler" McGargle May Return.

WINNEPEG, Man., March 16.—W. J. McGargle, who has been recruiting in this country for a long time, leaves for Toronto, Ont., in a few days, where he expects to meet many of his "Chicago" friends. It is said his intention is to settle up his affairs and return to Chicago very soon.

An Inhuman Mother.

NEW YORK, March 16.—The trial of Mrs. Wilhelm C. D. Lobkuecher, the inhuman mother who poisoned three of her children (two of them dying by giving them "rough on rats" on April 3 last, was tried here today. Most of the day was occupied in getting a jury.

THOSE IRON-CLAD GAME LAWS.

Reasons Why the Laws Should be Amended in Several Particulars.

So that Farmers May Use their Breech Loaders in the Spring.

Mr. C. L. Valentine, one of the leading members of the Janesville Angler-worm Club, sends the following communication to the Milwaukee Sentinel, showing wherein the game laws of Wisconsin can be amended so as to benefit the people:

JANESVILLE, March 13.—At the preceding session of the legislature (1887) a law was enacted prohibiting the shooting of water fowl of all kinds during the spring season. It was supposed at the time referred to that Illinois and all the other states adjoining the Mississippi river would enact similar laws. In this expectation, and in hope of better protection to the migratory birds whose annual flight brings them within the limits of our state, the bill secured the approval of a few local sportsmen and the energetic support of a large number of non-residents who in the fall of the year visit our state to enjoy the duck shooting which certain localities afford. The bill thus became a law, while in no other state south of or adjoining us was a similar law passed, despite the most urgent appeals of those trying to secure such legislation.

The subject is again before the Illinois legislature and the committee on fish and game having the bill in charge has, through its sub-committee, agreed to report and recommend for passage a bill which prohibits the shooting of ducks, geese and other water fowl from the 15th day of April to the 15th day of September in each year. The bill further provides that during the spring season it shall be unlawful to shoot the birds named on Sundays, Mondays and Tuesdays of each week, thus permitting shooting on the other days of the week up to the 15th day of April.

The law as it now stands in our state practically bars all of the people in the agricultural districts from ever having the privilege of shooting at a duck or a goose, or any other water fowl, as it is only during the early spring when the marshes and low lands are full of water from the melted snow that they are afforded any chance for a stray shot. While all of our people have the same rights under the law as it now stands, yet we have not all the same opportunities for enjoying them. And we all know that with the duck shooting months of the fall—September and October—comes the busiest season of work on the farm, and that there is no time to spare during this period for anything but work.

It is therefore not out of the way to say that by far the largest number of our people are entirely cut off from the shooting privileges which the few enjoy. Our present law could not have secured the approval of even the small number of sportsmen endorsing it, but for the expectation that adjoining states would enact like laws. As it is spring duck shooting is permitted all about us. Would it not be fair to all if we were allowed the same privileges in this respect that are accorded to the people of other states? For those who are in favor of the present law yield a point to those who are opposed to it, and amend the law in the spring (smaller wood ducks and teal excepted) as recommended in the bill before the legislature of Illinois. The ducks excepted are the only kinds breeding in our state.

This change in our law can be accomplished if those favoring it would but make their wishes known to the members of our legislature. It will be time enough for us to pass prohibitory laws on this subject when the south of us and around us shall have first adopted them. The shooting of wild geese should be allowed all seasons. There are not 200 killed in the state in any one year. They do not breed here, are never here in any numbers except in a few counties on the south line of the state where they feed in the spring on the corn-fields and winter grain, doing much damage and no good.

Those who favor the change in our law referred to should ask the legislature to make the close season on ducks from April 15 to September 1st, with four days' shooting each week in the spring. This would be only reasonable and fair to all under the existing circumstances, there is not one in fifty of the sportsmen in this county (Rock) who are in favor of the law as it now stands, while the entire farming community of the state are opposed to it. O. L. VALENTINE.

—Mr. Martin Trulson entertained his classmates (91 high school) last evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Trulson, 151 Washington street. A choice literary programme was rendered in a most entertaining manner, after which the evening was spent in social amusements, with refreshments, and the evening was one of great enjoyment to all.

—The social and supper given by the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church last evening at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Galbraith was attended by a very large number of the members and friends of that church and society, and the excellent supper served by the ladies proved one of the most profitable and satisfactory of the season. After supper had been served those present were entertained by some well rendered vocal selections by Miss Nellie Kent and Mr. D. H. Rust.

DEATH OF TONY BROWN

HIS REMAINS WILL ARRIVE IN JANESVILLE TO-MORROW MORNING.

Mr. Wm. E. Spicer received a dispatch this afternoon from Benson, Minnesota, announcing the death of Mr. Anthony Brown, well known here as "Tony Brown." His death occurred at 1:30 o'clock this morning, and resulted from a carbuncle on his neck. Deceased resided in Janesville for many years, and at one time was the popular foreman of Benson Hook and Ladder Co., and one of the live active members of the fire department. Leaving Janesville he engaged in railroading and settled at Benson, Minnesota, where he died. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn the death of a loving husband and father. His remains will be brought to this city for burial, and it is expected they will reach here at six o'clock to-morrow morning. No arrangements for the funeral have been made.

E. W. Reed, who left for Michigan so suddenly last week took his old place behind a chair in Wiche Bros' shop last evening. Reed reached Grand Rapids in last week. An indictment was hanging over him for selling liquor without a license, and it was jumping his bail while awaiting trial on this charge that made it necessary to send out the marshal. He was at once taken into court, and entered a plea of guilty. A fine of two hundred dollars was imposed and paid; and Reed, after visiting for a time with Grand Rapids friends, returned to his wife and family in this city.
